IN THE CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. (Currently amended) A computer method for editing a form, comprising: displaying a hyperlink for an element in the form, to indicate to a user that a control is available for the element, said hyperlink including a reference to a Universal Resource Locator (URL), said hyperlink providing one of the group consisting of a link from the form to another location, and a link from the form to another file;

upon a selection of the hyperlink by the user, presenting the control for user interaction; and upon completion of user interaction with the control, replacing the element with a new element responsive to user action.

- 2. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the form is a database query.
- 3. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the form is a spreadsheet.
- 4. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the element is part of a calculation.
- 5. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the element is part of a formula.
- 6. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the control is a list of choices.
- 7. (Original) The method of claim 6, wherein the list of choices is a pull-down menu.
- 8. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the control is a dialog box.
- 9. (Original) The method of claim 1, wherein the control is a text entry field.

10. (Original) The method of claim 1, further comprising:

upon completion of user interaction with the control, replacing the element with a new element responsive to user action, wherein the control is selected from a group of controls consisting of a list, a dialog box and a text entry field.

11. (Currently amended) A computer system for editing a form, comprising:

a user interface for displaying information to a user and for accepting input from the user;

a hyperlink displayed on the user interface for an element in the form, to indicate to the user that a control is available for the element, said hyperlink including a reference to a Universal Resource Locator (URL), said hyperlink providing one of the group consisting of a link from the form to another location, and a link from the form to another file;

upon a selection of the hyperlink by the user, the control displayed on the user interface for user interaction; and upon completion of user interaction with the control, a new element responsive to user action replacing the element.

- 12. (Original) The computer system of claim 11, wherein the control is selected from a group of controls consisting of a list, a dialog box and a text entry field.
- 13. (Currently amended) A computer program product for editing a form, the computer program product comprising a computer usable medium having computer readable code thereon, including program code which:

displays a hyperlink for an element in the form, to indicate to a user that a control is available for the element, said hyperlink including a reference to a Universal Resource Locator (URL), said hyperlink providing one of the group consisting of a link from the form to another location, and a link from the form to another file;

upon a selection of the hyperlink by the user, presents the control for user interaction; and upon completion of user interaction with the control, replaces the element with a new element responsive to user action.
